Hello my dear: How are you this beautiful wintry day? I really cannot say how I am, in some ways am a great deal better, that is as far as my cold goes am better, am so weak + nervious, of course last night + this mornings are about the only full meals that have stayed on my stomach. I am never hungry I sure will have to improve faster than I am if I go home Saturday. I will have the Dr to come out tomorrow if not any better than today. I dont know what to say about the candy it has not come yet. Bye bye Love Excuse this scratching
