Mrs. A. is to come over to give her report next Wed. Be sure to come along, and take dinner
at our house. Drop me a card so that I shall know whether you are going to drive
or come by rail.

Your friend

Anna Earson

Mrs. C. B. Hatton,
Urbana,
Ohio.

SMILE

MILE, it's as easy to smile as to frown.
Smile, it's hard to keep a cheerful man down.
Smile, be happy and cast aside care.
Smile, you'll find you have friends everywhere.
Smile, your prospects at once will grow better.
Smile, thus make the whole world your debtor.
Smile, for the morning must follow the night.
Smile, out of darkness there cometh the light.
Smile, cease making a friend of old sorrow.
Smile, the day's done, there will be dawn tomorrow.
Smile, for Dame Fortune no favorite plays.
Smile, by so doing your Creator you praise.
Smile and the worst of the journey is done.
Smile and one-half of the battle is won.
Smile, for each cloud has a bright silver lining.
Smile, for behind them the bright sun is shining.
Smile and thus banish all doubt and all fear.
Smile, for I send you the best of good cheer.
